

FROM TRASH TO TREASURE!

"We've been poor, but we've never been hungry. And with the abundant food supply in our community, those who are food insecure, especially children, shouldn't suffer!" This is the story that Paula and Bernie Kaufman and the Out of a Jam team are convinced should be shared, repeatedly. "We have the skills and the tools to capture much of the unwanted, overstocked and forgotten foods and transition them into healthy, delicious meals for thousands of families in real need."

THE PROCESS...

- Identify and educate the suppliers. Grocers, restaurants, event centers, farmers, food suppliers and food banks and food manufactures. We know that almost everyone hates wasting food, but many do not have a working system to save it.
- Collect and organize the food items. Mobilizing a community of staff and volunteers is key to getting foods collected and delivered safely to our warehouse.
- Create and prepare the rescued foods. We have a highly skilled and safety certified team that develops delicious meals and gets them ready for distribution.
- Food distribution. We are forming partnerships with churches, schools, food banks and other organizations enabling us to get the food to those in need in a timely manner.

WAYS TO HELP...

- If you are in the food industry, we want to help you keep your food from going to waste
- If you have time to volunteer...we can use your help! And your efforts will make a huge difference.
- If you know of families that are hungry, we want to help them. And you can join us!
- If you have connections to community advocates who are in or interested in food rescue, let us know!
